

State Rejects Highway Loans

No advancements in the form of loans by counties for construction of state highway system projects will be accepted, the State Highway Commission decided Monday after conferring with Attorney General Charles I. Dawson, who explained to the commissioners the opinion of the Court of Appeals in the Hopkins County case.

In that the court held that such an advancement is a debt within the meaning of the Constitution, and the department is limited to the estimated annual income for the current year.

Hopkins county was offering to lend the department $150,000 of its bond issue for construction of the Dixie Bee Line through the county. The court said it could, as the state was not obligated at the time beyond its current road revenues.

Since there are enough counties ready to match dollar for dollar with the state in federal aid projects to keep the state road fund employed, the commission was of the opinion that the better policy is to decline all local loans.

The question whether counties may contribute their bond issue to the state for use on federal aid projects will be decided shortly by Judge Thomas, who has before him the suit of County Attorney Thompson, of Lawrence county, to enjoin the fiscal court from thus contributing $150,000 toward the Mayo Trail. Mr. Thompson and a delegation from Lawrence and Johnson were before the commission Monday urging a change in the route designated in Lawrence county, but the commission deferred action until after the suit is decided, as the route of the Mayo Trail would be a moot question if the court should say that the money could not be used for it.

The Flat Fork route of the Midland Trail, through Carter county, was adopted by the commission. Rivalry between advocates of that route and the one along the Chesapeake & Ohio was threshed out before the commission on Monday. Engineers were of the opinion that the Flat Fork route would save $100,000 in construction cost.

Owen and Henry counties will be allowed convict labor again this year to complete projects under construction.

American Legion Notes

All those who purchased tickets in the Automobile Raffle, started a few weeks ago by the Montgomery Post, are requested please to present their receipt coupons to Finance Officer Ratliff H. Lane, at the Sentinel-Democrat office, for the refundment of their money.

While a number of the tickets have been sold and the raffle promised to be a thorough success, the new Post Administration has decided against carrying it farther, for reasons which we frankly give to the public: In this lottery a few were sure of large gains, but hundreds were just as sure of receiving nothing at all in return for their money. The losers would be good sports, we know, but it would be unfair to them and, indirectly, to ourselves for us to accept a single penny for which we did not give full value. "A nickel for a nickel, a dollar's worth for a dollar," expresses the principle on which the local American Legion will conduct such affairs now and henceforth. To do otherwise is distinctly contrary to the intentions and the moral sense of the Montgomery Post.

We cordially thank all those who took an interest in the Automobile Raffle and hope that the decision as stated above will not put them to any inconvenience.

Sincerely,
LEWIS H. KILPATRICK,
Montgomery Post No. 22, American Legion of Kentucky.

Harding May Eat Mississippi Turkey

President Harding's Thanksgiving turkey has been selected and is being nurtured to grace the White House table next November, H. W. Mason, a planter of Crystal Springs, Miss., informed Mr. Harding yesterday. It is his ambition, Mr. Mason wrote, to furnish for the occasion a gobbler scientifically raised, and thereby prove that Mississippi can produce as good turkeys as can be grown anywhere.

Beyond the Profit of Today

Lord, give me vision that shall see
Beyond the profit of today
Into the years which are to be,
That I may take the larger way
Of labor and achievement; so
Help me fashion, staunch and sure
A work my fellow men shall know
As wrought to serve—and to endure.

I seek for fortune, Lord, nor claim
To scorn the recompense I earn;
But help me, as I play the game,
To give the world its just return.
Thou mad'st the earth for all of us,
Teach me, through struggle, strain and stress
To win and do my share, for thus
Can profit lead to happiness.

Guard me from thoughts of little men
Which blind the soul to greater things;
Same me from smug content and then
From greed and selfishness it brings;
Aid me to join that splendid clan
Of business men who seek to trace
A claim, considered working-plan
To make the world a better place.

Lord, let the faith of these be mine,
A creed creative, simple, true,
Let me but aid in their design,
Let me but share the work they do;
Teach me to hold this task above
All lesser thoughts within my ken,
That thus I may be worthy of
The name of Business man; Amen!

Unemployment Is On the Increase

The number of persons employed in the United States continued to decrease during February, the Department of Labor's employment service announced yesterday in its monthly survey of the unemployed. The decrease for last month as compared with January was estimated at 1 per cent.

The employment service made no attempt to estimate the size of the nation's army of jobless workers, but its figures showed that 1,423 firms, located in the 65 principal industrial centers of the country, had in their employ February 28 a total of 1,626,958 workers as compared with 1,643,253 on January 31. This was a net decrease of 13,295.

About one-third of the mines in the Southeastern part of Kentucky and Tennessee were said to be idle due to the lack of business, with about 5,000 out of work.

The trial of the Commonwealth against Prof. T. B. Threlkeld, of Nicholasville, charged with the murder of A. C. Denman, Nicholasville merchant, in his store last October, was called in circuit court yesterday, but was continued until June 13 on account of the illness of the defendant, who is unable to leave his room. A jury, which heard the case last November, disagreed.

Veteran Dies

Ernest Cunningham, colored veteran of the World's War, died at his home in this city Monday night, following an illness contracted while in the service. Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Christian church by Rev. Brown and the colored soldiers of this county, in uniform, marched in a body to the grave and assisted in the ceremonies.

Chaplin Makes Clever Six-Reel Comedy

Charlie Chaplin's super-production, "The Kid," which took the comedian a year to make, has been booked for the Tabb Theatre for Monday.

The very seriousness of the part in that Charlie plays in the production, that of foster father to a two-weeks' old baby, makes it one of the most deliciously humorous pictures which he has ever given a joy-loving public. It is full feature length, running six reels, and is comedy of such high rank that it is universally known as First National's six reels of joy.

Income Tax Brings State $7,000,000

The State of Kentucky paid approximately $7,000,000 in income taxes this year, according to returns received at the office of Collector of Internal Revenue Elwood Hamilton. This total is about $2,500,000 less than last year, when about $9,500,000 was paid by Kentucky. Income taxes were paid this year by 75,000 persons, against 70,000 last year.

A shrinkage of more than one-fourth in incomes and profits is indicated by the returns.

Increase was shown in returns filed by wage-earners, while returns of corporations were reduced. A decided decline was shown in returns from the agricultural regions.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

The Y. W. C. A. is planning two meetings for the public before the close of the session, which they hope will prove of great interest. For April they are planning a College Day, to which every woman in Mt. Sterling who has been to College will be invited, and many will be asked to give some interesting points about their college. Miss Helen Hutchcraft, of Paris, a Wellsley graduate, will address the girls on the value of a college education.

In May there will be a mother's and daughters' banquet, at which the mothers will be the guests of the girls, and many toasts will be given and responded to. The dates for these two meetings will be announced later.

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Presbyterian church Miss Howard, of Louisville, will talk to the Sunday school teachers of all denominations on the plans and the methods for arousing interest among the young people. Miss Howard is a Sunday school worker of much experience, and will doubtless have many new and interesting suggestions to make.

The 74th annual conclave of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar of Kentucky will convene in this city on May 17 and remain in session for three days. Plans are being made to make this one of the most successful meetings ever held by Grand Commandery and with the co-operation of the citizens of the town and county there is no reason why this cannot be done. The house committee will, at an early date, make a thorough canvass of the town to secure quarters for the visitors.

Another Mt. Sterling Man Honored

The Ninth Annual Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, to be held at Atlantic City April 27th, and 29th, will have as its theme: "In the Public Interest—more business methods in government; less government management in business."

The Chamber of Commerce of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery County is a member of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, whose membership is made up of the big business men of our country; the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is being recognized by "the powers that be" at Washington, consulted with in all matters of importance and might be considered a most important branch of our government.

A referendum was asked for of its members some time ago seeking a fitting subject for a theme at its gathering and the above quoted was submitted by Mr. Stewart C. Sharp, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery County.

Congratulations to you Stewart, and to you members of the local Chamber of Commerce in being so fortunate in having so capable man in charge of your affairs.

WON HIS CONFIDENCE

He had gone to Kansas in an early day, established a bank and made a bit of money. He is now counted among the state's richest citizens. Asked by a friend how he ever had the nerve to start a bank in such a backwoods country as he located in, he replied: "Well, sir, I just rented a room, stuck up a sign, 'Bank,' and waited for results. The very first day a man came along and deposited one hundred dollars. The second day another man dropped in and left five hundred dollars. Another man put in three hundred dollars, and blamed it if I didn't get some confidence in the thing and put in five hundred dollars of my own money."

TOOK THE MEDAL

The gold medal for extreme miserliness, in the opinion of the Argonaut, will have to be awarded to the commuter who, on leaving for his office in the morning, forewarned his wife in this effect:

"I may have to work late tonight. If I do, I'll telephone you at six o'clock. But when you hear the bell, don't answer it—you will know what it means, and I shall get my nickel back."

When truth goes into battle it always fights in the front ranks.

School Situation In Kentucky

Kentucky has a number of modern well-equipped school plants that are closed through the summer months.

Kentucky has a number of competent and qualified teachers who are either idle or engaged in other work through the summer months. Kentucky has some 14,000 public school teachers of whom not one-fourth are properly prepared. Kentucky has 3 state teacher-training institutions, offering summer courses to teachers actual or prospective. It is desired that the maximum number of teachers attend the summer school at one of these institutions. If the maximum number does attend each of these institutions there would still be left more than 10,000 public school teachers without opportunity for work in a summer school in Kentucky.

Why cannot Kentucky use her competent teachers, otherwise engaged in other business, to conduct a summer school in these well-equipped school plants, otherwise closed, for the benefit of these 10,000 public school teachers, otherwise denied a chance? Kentucky has doubled the teachers' salary within the last 12 months; she has a right to demand increased efficiency on the part of the teacher. The tax-payers have increased their school taxes; they have a right to demand that they shall have better prepared teachers. If the increase in salary of teacher and of superintendent means that we shall have the same teacher and the same superintendent, without improvement or preparation or capacity, we shall have helped possibly the teacher and the superintendent, but we shall not have improved our schools nor shall we have given the children a better chance. We must keep faith with the tax-payers. Above all, we must keep faith with the children for whose benefit and for whose benefit alone, schools exist and salaries are increased.

The two state normals and the university are generously promoting the plan of establishing summer schools in as many counties as conditions will justify. These schools will offer a five weeks' term. Full credit will be given for work done in these summer schools, provided it measures up to the regular standards. It will bring teacher-training opportunities closer to the teacher. It will cheapen the cost of attending a summer school. It will vindicate the teacher's pledge to the tax-payer that better pay meant a better prepared teacher. The course offered must of necessity be limited in scope. It will be designed to meet the needs of those most limited in their preparation. Those desiring a wider and a fuller course will find it in the summer schools offered by the two normal schools and by the university. Such teachers will be expected to attend the established institutions for summer work.

The last week of these summer schools will be designated "institute week" and will take the place of the regular institute, and all teachers in the county will be compelled to attend. The salary schedule of each county will carry a provision that recognizes and rewards the teachers who attend the summer school. The superintendents just appointed can do no better thing than attend themselves, some school offering work suitable for them at its summer session. A teacher's preparation or a superintendent's preparation is not a thing that is accomplished once and then is back of us forever; so long as we are capable of learning our preparation continues. When we shall have reached the point when we can no longer grow, then we are dead and should quit the profession. The Kentucky child is entitled to drink from a system of living water and not from a stagnant pond. Kentucky must have better prepared teachers; every educational facility ought to be devoted to that end. We cannot safely or wisely overlook any opportunity to accomplish this result.

This is a problem of the people, rather than of the teaching profession. The people should demand it of the teachers and should accept no less. As the spokesmen of the people, as the molders of public opinion, as the pioneers of all better things, we appeal to the press of the state for help. We shall always be grateful for the unselfish support given to the cause of education by our press. We realize, however, that not our gratitude, but the consciousness of a service rendered, is the incentive that prompts them to this support.

Very respectfully yours
GEO. COLVIN,
State Superintendent.

TOUCH ON THE CHURCH

A prominent Paris woman vouches for the truth of the following incident, which came to her knowledge very recently:

A pupil in the Paris High School, in one of the lower grades, was asked by her teacher to give a definition of the word "hypocrite." After some time spent in reflection the child replied: "A person who goes to church all the time is called a hypocrite." The teacher reported to the child's mother, who took the little one to task for giving such a definition and was astonished when the child said: "Why, Mother, that's what I heard you say just the other day."—Bourbon News.

MT. STERLING LUMBER CO.

The above named company which took over the Star Planing Mill Co. a few years ago, has enjoyed a remarkable patronage during the past and its prospects for the future are exceedingly bright. The manager of this concern, Mr. Guy Sandefur, is a wide-awake, hustling, straight-forward business man, and under his direction the future success of this large and growing business seems assured. They are at present figuring on a number of new buildings to be erected this spring and owing to the decided drop in lumber, expect to see a building boom in Mt. Sterling which is so badly needed to relieve the housing conditions here.

Mr. E. F. Robertson, the architect for this company, has had long years of experience and is considered one of the best in this section of the state. He will at all times be glad to submit plans and make estimates on any contemplated building and give all necessary advice.

This concern takes a great pride in always having material on the ground when it is needed by the contractor and they make it a point to see that no time is lost on account of failure to have lumber on the job. They handle the very best obtainable and will be glad to submit estimates at any time, guaranteeing satisfaction in every particular. If you are contemplating building a home or other building it will be to your interest to consult the Mt. Sterling Lumber Co.

BUSINESS SENSE

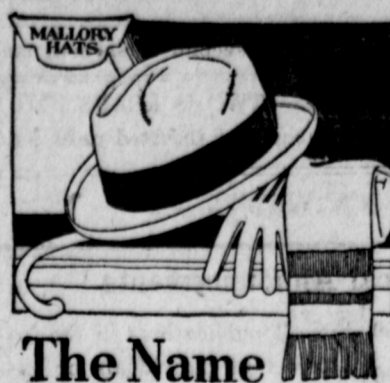

We have now recovered a normal state of mind in business, a better sense of proportion and the saner, sounder judgments of old. The country now appreciates the fact that in order to prosper it must produce, that in order to continue production it must sell, and in order to sell it must buy.

But how can one sell if people will not buy? People will always buy at a price.

Out of it all comes this:

1. We have passed the danger of a national financial disturbance.

2. Buyers insist upon getting satisfying value for their money. The sellers are now, in most cases, giving such value. Thus new business is upon a more solid foundation

THE ROAD SITUATION

Since the last issue of the Advocate the State Road Department has decided that it will not accept any monies from counties as a loan, owing to the fact that it had more money offered as a gift to apply on federal aid projects that it could accept. Owing to this decision we believe it wise for Montgomery county to at once get in a position where we can accept all propositions which the State Highway Department may make whereby we can secure Federal and State Aid, in other words, where we can secure hard surfaced roads for one-fourth the cost of construction. We believe our people will readily see the wisdom of spending money for good roads, whereby we are assured of the federal government putting up two dollars and the state one for every dollar that we invest. This matter is now being threshed out by Mr. Kern and the other members of the Fiscal Court and we hope some decision may soon be reached whereby Montgomery county will get in shape to accept all such propositions.

BLOODHOUNDS NEEDED

The fact that Mt. Sterling is badly in need of locally owned bloodhounds was again demonstrated in this city Sunday when, after one of our business men had been attacked, robbed and probably fatally injured, dogs were brought here from Lexington, but too late to take the trail. Bloodhounds, so we are informed, are not expensive, and we believe would do much to reduce crime and assist in capturing criminals in this city and county.

Chaplin Writes and Directs "The Kid"

"The Kid," Associated First National's six reels of joy, is to be the attraction at the Tabb Theatre, Monday. It is more Charlie Chaplin than has ever been put into one picture before, for, in addition to being six full reels in length, the story was written by the comedian himself. He directed it himself and plays the leading role.

Jackie Coogan, one of the greatest finds ever made in the search for boys with real acting ability, plays the title role. His work was so pleasing to the comedian that before the production was over he was universally known among the film colony on the coast where the picture was made as "Charlie, Junior," a name which Chapin gave him himself.

Edna Purviance, whose beauty and general acting ability made her such a splendid leading lady for Chaplin in previous productions, has the leading feminine role.

ARISE AND SHINE!

O, do not be a foolish gink and sit and fret and worry. Don't fuss and fume till you can't think, and say your biz is on the blink. Arise! Get busy! Hurry! for there is just one thing to do, when you see trouble brewing: Forget all thoughts of blueish hue and work like heck the whole day through. Don't waste a minute stewing! The cure is sure. If you are wise you'll keep forever jumping. The fighter always cops the prize! The fellow gains who does or dies! You'll win if you keep humping.

Readjustment Hits

All of Us Alike

Discussing the threatened strike by the packers' employees rather than submit to a cut in war wages, a Chicago newspaper says, "We are all in this readjustment business together."

But the fellow who is asked to take his share of the readjustment too often wants to yell "Murder." The packers' workers are willing that the railway workers stand a reduction so that the packers' workers may not only continue their own employment, but get something besides, out of possibly lower traffic rates, but the railway workers want the packing industry to do it all, so that they can buy cheaper peace basis meat products with their abnormal war basis wages.

And if this is true about the coal mine, the textile mill and the steel plant employees, it is also true about some of the employers in great industries. They don't want to cut war basis wages and also war basis prices; they want other industries and the rest of the country to cut their war basis wages and war basis prices, while they stand pat.

Yet they all ought to know that for the country to get down to a peace basis of working and living everything must come down. And everything is going to come down. The law of nature will see to that. But when the railroads at last realize that the people stop unnecessary traveling when the fare is too high, the factory owner realizes that his product quits selling freely when the price is too high and the farmer realizes that people even eat less when the cost is too high, what is the sense of anybody trying to block the way to the economic readjustment which is the only thing that will stimulate consumption, start up business and put our wage earners to work again?

Whether it is a corporation boss, a labor union boss or a political boss, all he can do in opposing the irresistible readjustment is to postpone its start or check its speed after it has started, or fool somebody else into doing the wrong thing when everybody ought to be doing the right thing. He can't prevent it, fortunately for his own ultimate salvation. He can, however, while he is trying to prevent the inevitable, increase unemployment, weaken the purchasing power of the market and injure the country. No matter who does this at a time when all ought to pull together to get American productive agencies on their feet again, it isn't good patriotism, it isn't good business and it isn't good sense.

Come and see my line of Spring and Summer Hats.

TO MAKE BRIGHT TOBACCO

The demand is almost entirely for bright tobacco. If we expect to make a paying crop, we must go to work to make bright tobacco. In order to do this we must plant it early and grow it quick.

Every farmer in the Burley Belt should use fertilizer on his plant beds and enough on his ground to give his tobacco a start and make a quick growth. One bag (125 lbs.) of our Plant Food sowed once over a 9-foot wide and 200-foot long, and raked in with a small hand rake, will give you strong healthy plants two weeks sooner. Two hundred pounds of our Bright Leaf Tobacco Grower, drilled in or by the side of the row, will give your tobacco a start and make an early, bright, fine crop. It will pay on any land. Four hundred pounds, drilled in or sowed all over the ground, will make a fine tobacco crop and a big wheat crop, and insure you a good stand of grass.

We sell only the V.-C. Fertilizer, made by the Virginia-Carolina Company (the largest manufacturers of fertilizers in the world.) This fertilizer has been tried all over this and every other section and has given satisfaction. Our Plant Food has proven to be the best for plant beds, and our Gem Tobacco Fertilizer has ammonia enough to start the plant and give it a quick growth, and sufficient acid phosphate to ripen it with high color.

Creep for Lambs

Increases Gains

By building a creep so that lambs can be fed grain in a place where the ewes cannot get to it, Kentucky farmers will be able to realize more rapid gains in the young animals, according to sheep specialists from the State College of Agriculture. A good grain mixture for the youngsters is composed of one part by weight of ground corn, one part of crushed oats, one part of linseed oil meal and two parts of wheat bran. It is a good practice to build a trough close to the ground in this creep, so that the lambs can get at their food readily.

USE THE LOCAL PAPER

One person or several may get the habit of buying a certain article, and may get the habit of trading at a certain store, but to convince the whole community of the merits of the article and to convince them that they should buy it from a certain store requires advertising, and that advertising should be done in your local paper so that you may win the confidence of your home trade.

Habit Formation

Mothers are often heard to say: "My children have such untidy habits and I don't seem to be able to break them. I talk all day long, but it doesn't do any good."

No mother needs to endure her children's untidy habits or any other undesirable habits, if she goes about training in the right way, and is willing to take a little trouble to carry it out. Four simple rules based on psychology, may serve to give such mothers an insight into the means of forming right habits. If carried out faithfully, these rules cannot fail to produce results.

First, decide for yourself what habit you wish to form. Then start enthusiastically and determinedly to break the old and launch the new one. Say to your children, "Beginning today we are all going to hang up our wraps, and put our books and rubbers in the proper places when we come home from school. Let's see who remembers every time, and does not have to have mother tell her once about it." Arouse as much enthusiasm as you can about the matter. Be careful that you do not start to break and form anew too many habits at one time. Select one or two habits to work on and keep at them until you are reasonably sure that they are well fixed. Then start on another.

Second, permit no exceptions to occur after you have once started. No matter how good the intentions of the children, they will lapse into the old ways after a few days. That is when you will have to work. You will find that eternal vigilance on your part will be the price of your children's good habits. When Mary comes home in a hurry to go out to play, she will throw her books on the nearest chair. Don't say, "Oh, well, she is little, and it is hard to remember all the time. I'll let it go this time." That is where you will fail. Even though Mary has already gone away to play, she should be called back immediately and told in a kind manner, "You forgot your books today. Put them away, and then you may go to play." One or two experiences of that kind will soon make Mary more careful.

Third, repeat the desirable action as often as possible. We all know that the habit is most firmly fixed which we have been practicing the longest. Seize every occasion to perform the act which you wish to become a habit and its acquisition will come all the sooner.

Last of all, act, don't talk. As Professor James says in his Talks to Teachers, "Don't preach too much or abound in good talk in the abstract." When Mary throws her coat on the floor and her rubbers in the middle of the hall, don't tell her that nice little girls don't do those things, or that she is a careless girl and should know better, and a great deal more to that effect. Simply call her as soon as you discover what she has done and tell her quietly and good-naturedly to put her things away immediately and then see that she does it. Such treatment as this is far more effective than mere talking.

MRS. MARY C. AYRES Local Representative

The Next Legislature

One of the most pleasing evidences of good sense in Kentucky is to be found in the splendid character of the men who are announcing for the next Legislature. As a rule they are men of a very much higher standard of intelligence than we have ever noticed in previous years. It seems like this year, at least, no political scrubs need apply, and the fellows who heretofore have gone to the Legislature with axes to grind have made no showing anywhere in the state. From the announced candidates there will be more brains and character in the Legislature than for a long time on the Democratic side.

Another good indication is that where the people have insisted that some prominent citizen become a candidate at a personal sacrifice in almost every instance such candidates have a clear track with no opposition.—Elizabethtown News.

A certain Mt. Sterling man is not acting right and will be punished. His wife has not yet caught him, but some of these nights you will hear what you believe to be the curfew whistle; it will be the married man screaming, his wife having caught him. And what you take to be the rumble of the fire engine will really be the sound of the man as he flees to the tall and uncut.

Nelson County to Use More Acid Phosphate

In a report to the Soils and Crops Department of the State College of Agriculture the business manager of Nelson county has estimated that farmers in that county will use 20 cars of acid phosphate this year. This should produce a crop increase worth $11,460, according to figures compiled by members in the department.

Twenty cars of acid phosphate would be sufficient to fertilize 1,500 acres at the rate of 800 pounds per acre. The average return from this material on experiment fields conducted by the college was $7.64 per acre per rotation. On this basis the 20 cars of phosphate would produce an increase worth $11,460. Since the acid phosphate should be applied every four years the return per year would be about $2,865.

Specialists in the department, at the college, however, have stated that the acid phosphate may be applied at the rate of 400 pounds per acre once each four years. Larger net returns would probably be secured by using 400 pounds every four years rather than 800 pounds, the specialist says.

NO SYMPATHY

In the wilds of the Blue Ridge country there used to live an old fellow whose wife made his life miserable. It was her custom to bounce skillets, brickbats, pieces of stove-pipe and stove wood off the old man's head.

One day a neighbor rushed into the old man's yard and cried, "Jim, hurry down to the pasture, your wife is in a fight with a bear."

"Not on your life," Jim replied, pulling at the stem of his corn-cob pipe, "that bear got himself into that fight and he can get out the best way he can."

What Are Your Chances in a Tornado?

Nature is never completely at rest, never completely at peace as we humans understand peace.

The earth hurls itself through space at a traffic speed annihilating to anything in its way. Somewhere on earth volcanoes are constantly vomiting liquid destruction. Earthquakes rock the crust of our world here or there every few days. Sun and frost crack solid rock. The restless tides smash man-made works. Seeds burst and roots tear through walls.

In this favored country of ours we are fortunate in that we are singularly free from the destructive forces of nature. But not entirely free of the lesser. For instance, on occasion, the tornado darts down upon us. It devastates a small area and then disappears into the clouds above. The springtime is the most favored season of the tornado.

But nervous, timid Americans have little cause to lose sleep over the tornado—not if they will reflect on the chances involved. The weather bureau people roughly estimate the number of tornadoes in bad years as about 300. Even so, the average number killed in a year by such storms is only about 150, so that the destruction of life per tornado averages only one person—one in every 700,000 of the population.

The recent big wind in Georgia ripped over a territory of less than half a mile wide by less than five miles long, or two square miles. At that, the territory covered is usually much less than a square mile. The total area of continental United is 3,026,000 square miles, so that a tornado represents, on the average, less than a pin prick on our map.

Thus, as one of the population of America, you stand only one chance in 700,000 of being killed in a wind storm. And the square mile in which your home is located, has less than one chance in over three million of being devastated by a weather disturbance that takes a notion to fire a cannon ball earthward in the form of a tornado.

Billy Sunday's Recipe For Christians

"You can tell a Christian by the way in which he smiles 'good morning,'" said Sunday. "You can tell him by the way in which he helps a poor old woman into the street car, by the visits he pays to the sorrowing and the sick, by the comfort he brings to the mourners when death visits a family, you can tell him by the countless acts of Christian kindness and goodness. Some folks won't play at all if they can't be Douglas Fairbanks or Mary Pickford. But Christians follow the advice of Paul, and 'in honor prefer one another.'"

Whenever you see a minister of the gospel paying more attention to politics than to religion he always reminds us of a crowing hen. The hen thinks she is playing hell—and she is.

Few there be to compare with him. Under the greatest stress that it has been the lot of man to bear he has stood like a "stone wall." He has suffered and endured all manner of contumely. He has been reviled and contemned, abused and mistreated. So was our Lord. Hounded almost to death, through envy and jealousy, but no murmur has ever been heard to escape his lips. He goes out of office unscathed by adverse criticism, broken in health, but with the courage undaunted, leaving behind him a great trail of wonderful achievements, rivaled only by those of our great Washington.

Our country has great reason for gratitude to him, but ah, how sharper than a serpent's tooth to be a thankless nation.

Some day, and I pray God it may be before he passes from this earthly stage, historians will do him justice and give him the place he deserves in the hall of fame.

His will be "one of the few," the immortal names that were not born to die."

THREE TIMES AS LARGE!

Some months ago The Advocate gave an interview of Mr. V. O. Foulk of the Shale Oil Company to be located on the line of the K. & S. A. nine miles out from Mt. Sterling. Shortly after that Mr. Foulk returned to Pittsburgh, where the majority of the stockholders of the company reside, and this week was here going over plans and preparing for active work in building the branch road leading to the plant. Mr. Foulk advises us that the plant will be at least three times the size as first given out, that the stock is practically all taken and that it is the intention of the company to be turning out products from the shale oil rock within the coming four months. Mr. Foulk is of the opinion that it will require at least 200 houses to care for the laborers that will be employed, and that no capitalists or foreigners will have to furnish the houses.

The Oil Inspector And His Fat Job

(Paducah News-Democrat)

The richest political plum in McCracken county has been placed in jeopardy by a suit filed in the federal court at Louisville attacking the constitutionality of the act creating the office of oil inspector. The suit is brought directly against the Trigg county official, but if successful it may abolish the office in every county in the state.

The suit was filed by the Evansville Oil Company, and a temporary restraining order was granted against John T. King, county attorney of Trigg county, and Denny P. Smith, Commonwealth's attorney for the Third Judicial district, the papers being served by Wash Kimbell, deputy United States Marshal. The officers have brought 103 suits in the state courts against the company and were preparing to file 500 more when the corporation invoked the aid of the federal court.

It is set forth in the petition that the act creating the office of county oil inspector is unconstitutional because it conflicts with the provisions of the United States Constitution, and hinders interstate commerce. The company, an Indiana corporation, had oil inspected in Indiana and shipped it into Kentucky. It is stated that the oil inspector is permitted certain fees for inspecting and when not made fines are subject to be made; 50 per cent going to the inspector and 50 per cent to the state. The petition recites: "The said act is not an act for the safety of the people of the state, but is in truth and fact an act to raise revenues for the benefit of the oil inspector of the prospective counties of the state."

In McCracken county Waddy Lang, the brother of County Judge James M. Lang, holds the office of oil inspector, and the fees are said to exceed any county office in the county. It is alleged that the inspector receives $12,000 in fees.

The motion to make the temporary restraining order permanent will be heard by Judge Walter Evans on March 17. As it is alleged that the act is in conflict with three sections of the Federal Constitution, three judges will sit in the case.

The suits were filed in Trigg county to collect fines for alleged failure to have oil shipped into Kentucky from Indiana inspected by the Trigg county official.

Wild Parsnips Prove Fatal to Orphan Boys

Two boys, inmates of an orphan's home at Tiffin, Ohio, are dead and two others in a serious condition as a result of poisoning, said to have been from eating wild parsnips. The boys ate the parsnips while out for a walk, thinking they were artichokes. They became ill shortly afterward and the two died within a few hours.
